ENTERING THE CAPITOL.

A NOBLE STAIRWAY IN THE GREAT BUILDING AT ALBANY.

SOME OF THE DECORATIONS-THE MATERIAL

USED-THE WORK OF THE ARCHITECTS

[FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.] Albany, Dec. 23 .- Governor Morton and the embers of the Republican Legislature will find upon taking possession of the State Capitol on New Year's Day that its beauty of architecture, always a pride to the State, has been greatly increased in the course of the year 1894 through the skill of the Capitol Commissioner, Isaac G. Perry, and his assistants and workingmen. Up to September 30, 1894, the sum of $21,468,336 30 had been expended upon the Capitol. Ten years ago, when Mr. Perry became Capitol Commissioner, there was great danger that the noble building planned by Mr. Fuller and carried forward in magnificent style by the late H. H. Richardson, of Boston, and Leopold Eldlitz, of New-York, would fall into the hands of some mediocre architect, and be utterly spoiled. There reason to fear also that the Legislature would resolve to complete the Capitol in spirit of the most extreme economy, and substitute plaster where marble was required if the building was to be completed in the same style of splendor in which it was begun. But fortunately for the State, Mr. Perry was not only a highly competent architect, but he also was a man of broad views. He held with the late William Dorshelmer, one of the earlier Capitol Commissioners, that the State Capitel should be a school of architecture in itself to the people of the State. Accordingly, he continued the work upon the Capitol in the manner of Richardson and Eidlitz. He carried out many of their expensive approach to the eastern front of the building, its which the balustrades rest bear spirited carvmain entrance, and to design and build the great western staircase of the building. In the year 1894 Mr. Perry carried forward nearly to coming is carved the head and bust of a typical pletion the western stairway, which he thinks the grandest in the world; and brought much nearer 1884, and continued at intervals, when appropriations were available. Mr. Perry is afraid to tell how much it cost, but there is reason to think it cost nearly $1,000,000. The actual time expended in its construction was five and a half years. The structure of the stairway occupies a space 76 feet 1014 inches north and south by 69 feet 1014 inches east and west. The height from the tile floor in the first story to the top of the cornice is 105 feet and from thence to the summit of the glazed dome is 14 feet, making a total of 119 feet. The east and west main corridors of the western section of the building extend along past the great staircase in the first, second, third and fourth stories, except on the west side of the second story, where the entrance lobby is located, which connects with all four of the corridors, which are embellished with columns and pilasters, with carved

The effect produced in viewing the stairs from the great lobby in the second story is most imposing. The cross sections of corridors opposite the staircase in the various stories are emphasized by piers and arches on the north and south limits, and all walls within these sections have been made to harmonize with other portions of the structure. The plan of the stairway consists of broad central rows of steps starting in the corridors and extending through the centre openings between the cylindrical plers, flanked with columns in the east and west corridors in the first story, in the east corridor and west lobby in the second story, and in the east and west corridors in the third story. The centre was curved outwardly from the centre line of the steps, increasing the length of the lower steps, which are also constructed in convex curves and extend up a little more than one-third of the height of each story and land on central platforms. These platforms are flanked by short runs of stairs on two sides at right angles to the central runs, which extend to and land on platforms reaching to the walls, from which are four runs of steps, two on each side along the walls next to the south and north corridors, thereby making four landings, two in each corridor of the second, third and fourth stories. By this plan the construction of the stairway is such as forms four liberal-sized wells, to which light is admitted through the glazed dome and also bases and extending up from the foundations at others of his own. He transformed and improved the building in a thousand ways. He let fresh air and sunshine into it, for the thought of ventitation had apparently been abhorrent to the earlier architects, and they also had left the halls and many of the rooms of the building far too dark.

But Mr. Perry's great worth as an architect in charge of tre Capitol was to design the grand and artistic designs, and planned and completed ing. On the centre ledge on the north side is an oplain. On the inside of the piers, as viewed

A SPLENDID BALUSTRADE.

Very careful attention has been given to the form and decoration of the balustrade in the six openings of the third story. The balusiers stand of ledges which project into the staircase, forming bays, from which a full view of the great work is obtained. The ledges upon man who fired the shot was killed. From the published description of the murderer, people in that section believe that Morganfield is the man. In the job were five men, led by the man believed to be Morganfield. At that time the fellow went under the name of William Ray, and used to make his headquarters in New-Orleans, at a place called "The Three Brothers." The train robber knew a woman named Mary Meyers in that city, and it was through her that he came near being captured shortly after the affair. A detective well known in the South figured in the case, but when he went to close in on the man, a tip got out, and the fellow believed to be Morganfield disappeared, and ali trace of him was lost. Chief of Police Deitsch is after more information, and a detective will be called here to look at Morganfield."

MICHIGAN'S FIRST INAUGURATION.

FORMAL CEREMONIES TO BE HELD FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF THE STATE.

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 29 (Special).-Governor John T. Rich and the other State officers will be inaugtrated on Monday, and for the first time in the nistory of the State the ceremonies will be of a emal nature. In the past it has been customary for the officers-elect, from the Governor down, to take the oath of office where and when and before whom it best suited their convenience, and when the time came for entering upon their official duties all that remained to do was to take hold. This year interesting and impressive ceremonies will be carried out, and it is expected that the custom. once begun, will obtain for all time to come inaugural services will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The officers-elect will assemble in the a body to the Representative Hall, which will, doubtless, be througed with interested spectators and friends. General P. A. March and Friends Congress P. A. March an will deliver a brief address. Chief Justice John McGrath, of the Supreme Court, will deliver the principal address of the day, and the outh of office of the Supreme Court. Maynard, of this city, attorney-general; H. M. Pattingill, of Lansing, superintendent of the public schools, and Perry F. Powers, of Cadillac, member of the State Board of Education, are the other officials to be inaugurated.

The inauguration will in a manner be a reunion of all who have ever served the State in an official capacity, as the ex-officials have been especially invited. Most if not all the members of the new Legislature will be in attendance, as the session will open the following day. Many prominent etticems from all parts of the State will be present, coming to take a hand in the Senatorial election which will come on immediately after the organization of the House. The festivities will close New-Year's night with a grand ball, the first inaugural ball the State has ever known.

FAILURES IN BUSINESS.

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 29.-The N. B. Carlstein Company, general merchants of this city, filed chattel mortgages for more than $100,000 to day, to P. S. Pratt, trustee, securing the following parties: H. B. Claffin, New-York, $22,362; Commercial Bank. Bay City, 29.478; Second National Bank, $19.890; First National Bank, $25.681; W. H. Miller, $19.689. and another mortgage to W. H. Miller, separate from the others, for $12.8%. The above mortgages cover all of the company's stock of boots, shoes, clothing and general merchandlas in its store here and at Standish, Mich., and all goods in possession of its employes and pediers.

Fort Dodge, Iowa, Dec. 29.-R. W. Crawford & Co., wholesale and retail druggists, and the largest house in Northern Iowa, failed to-day. The stock and credits were turned over to W. N. Merritt for the benefit of all creditors, and $20,000 of real cenate was deeded in trust for local creditors. Slow collections was the cause of the failure.

than I could do it; and it certainly puts upon us a great responsibility. The great need of the day is young men of integrity and ability. None such are necessarily idle.

Now, let it be understood that any young man who derstands bookkeeping, writes a good hand, is quick and correct it figures, honest all the way through, and is not afraid of work, can get a place to-morrow where he can earn a good living, with a good prespect ahead. Such a youn man need not attend a business college. It is only those who lack the education that we can give that we expect to interest in these articles. To this class say, there is no surer means of success than a thorough business education ailled to honesty and in-The case is more fully stated in the prospectus of Pack-ard's Business College, which can be had for the asking.
